"I'm not from around here" is very common in American English. It means that you are not familiar with the area (and its ways) because you don't live in or near that town or city. To be more formal, you could say "I'm a visitor myself." More casually: "I'm also a visitor/tourist here."

☐M NOT FROM AROUND HERE! Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am there ye may be also. John 14:1-3

Thanks to the label we get to listen to these tracks. Very cool box. it's surprising you can buy this package at such a reasonable price. Not the cleanest pressing this time but i don't mind a little crackle. It's not a CD and the source undoubtedly isn't high-resolution either. It suits the music and i'm sure i'll play this record plenty of times.

I really enjoyed reading I'm Not From Around Here. There were however unfinished gaps in his memoir. He never explains how his mother and step father got together after his step father was released from jail on car smuggling charges. He never tells the readers what his biological father ended doing as a career, or where he eventually settled.
