lot of money working in advertising, most people aren't even earning close to a six-figure salary. The majority of people working in the field started at the bottom rung of the ladder, interning for free, possibly even making minimum wage just to get their start in the industry. And some people actually take a job with no pay in the hopes of one day becoming a paid employee.

Myths About a Career in Advertising

A lot has changed since the first edition of Myths and Realities, yet the trends in education are as undeniable as they were then: English language learners (ELLs) constitute the fastest growing population in U.S. schools and their teachers face an increasingly challenging educational context. Rural America has come to the nation's attention. But much discussion in the media and coffee shops, at conferences and dinner tables, relies on incorrect or no data, idyllic or dystopic tropes and images, and opinion uninformed by rural experience. These myths have become a major obstacle to crafting a robust agenda for rural America and garnering support for policy change.
